THE 'ROMANS ROAD TO SALVATION'

"Christians over the years have taken Paul's epistle to the church in Rome and identified key verses which, taken together, form a road that leads one to an understanding of the basic gospel of Jesus Christ.

"As it is written, 'There is none righteous, no, not one.'" (Romans 3:10). Quoting from the Psalms, Paul declares that no single human being is "righteous" (the meaning of which is best understood as "right with God").

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23). Lest someone protest that they are a good person, especially when compared to people they know or observe in the news or in their workplace (or wherever), Paul points out that the standard isn't your neighbor, but rather God Himself.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." (Romans 6:23). Having established that we are all sinners who fall short of God's glory, Paul explains that the "wages" (or earnings) of our sin is "death." This includes both physical death and spiritual death.

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8). God doesn't leave us in our sinful state. He doesn't leave us with the prospect of facing both physical and spiritual death. Even when we were deep in sin, "Christ died for us."

"For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10:13). The bad news is we all fall short of God's glory and we all face both physical and spiritual death because of it. The good news is that God loved us, sent Jesus to die for us, and anyone who calls upon "the name of the Lord shall be saved."

For a deeper explanation of what it means to call on the name of the Lord, the plan and promise of God's love and salvation, Romans 10:13 should be read in the context of the verses which precede it, Romans 10:9-10. We must communicate to God our clear declaration that Jesus is Lord and we must believe that Jesus rose from the dead. This must be a sincere, intentional head-and-heart decision we make before God. And those who are genuine and authentic in their confession of Christ and profession of faith "shall not be ashamed."
